Curtis Comments

2009 promises to be an important year for American Baptists. We are revising our structure in order to be more responsive to the postmodern world as well as our own fiscal limitations. However, this transition brings with it an opportunity. Evergreen was born out of difficult transition, but we saw in the unfortunate circumstances an opportunity to really live up to the ideals we as a denomination have always claimed; par-

Beneath the Skin: Baptists and Racism

Beneath the Skin: Baptists and Racism considers past mistakes and future challenges regarding racial unity and social justice. From the trans-Atlantic slave trade to the current immigration debate, Beneath the Skin peels back prejudices and confronts them with biblical mandates. Interviewees come from nearly a dozen states and represent the best in Baptist life, including: preacher and activist Will Campbell, Aidsand Wright-Riggins of American Baptist Churches USA, and Javier Elizondo of Baptist University of the Americas.

Through Judson Press the Beneath the Skin DVD can be purchased for $15. Go to the Marcia's review: "It is Excellent. One criticism is that the title, Beneath the Skin: Baptists and Racism, is misleading. Though there are Baptists speaking, the truth spoken reaches much more broad than just Baptists."

Volunteer Paychecks—THANK YOU ALL!!

On Wednesday, December 2, 2008, at the annual volunteer luncheon our 'mailings' volunteers were extended the only "paycheck" each one receives for his/her "Servant's Heart" - our sincere appreciation for all the work they do to further the ministry of the Association through the gift of their time and services. Thanks, Again!!

Clergy Christmas Party

Thanks to Ron Kirstein for hosting a great holiday party at his home for Evergreen ministers. Only a few were able to attend, but it was a good time.

We are looking for someone in the central or south Seattle area to volunteer to host next year

Godspell Fundraising Event

The recent production of Godspell was well received and very well done. However, the production proved very expensive to launch.

We are still working on a final tally, but, regrettably it appears proceeds may have met, but not gone beyond production costs. So we are concerned that Tent Cities may not be the recipients of the kind of support we had hoped to share with them.

If you wish, contributions may be made directly to Tent Cities or through Evergreen Association by noting the contribution is for Tent Cities on the memo line of your check.

ticularly our identity as the most diverse denomination. Evergreen focused on reflecting that claim in earnest. Now, the denomination has a similar opportunity to live up to its ideals. The question that comes to us is, "What does Evergreen have to offer the denomination as it navigates this difficult transition?"

ABC-USA is poised to become an organization like no other if she chooses. Evergreen has some important insights to bring to the table and now is our time to lift up the Baptist ideals that have guided our own emergence; ideals such as unity that respects diversity, relational structure and consensus building.

The lessons learned and the blessings received in the Evergreen story are vital to ABC's future, especially in the area of the ethnic caucuses. It is difficult for people who have not been immersed in it to grasp how being in caucuses can provide avenues for new relationships. This is why it is our burden to ensure that these insights are given voice in the new structure.

So my challenge to Evergreen in 2009 is to really think through how we, as an Association, can bring our story and insights into the ABC-USA denominational restructuring process.

Happy New Year and God Bless,

Thank You All!!

These simple words of gratitude are really not enough, especially this year. Our finances have been extremely tight this year and we only got through because we took monies from our “bequest” fund, reducing it by ½ before the market reduced it even further.

This year when we say thank you to those folk who gave to Evergreen above and beyond their gifts through their local churches, it is with a humble heart and a sense of needing to press forward to fulfill our mission to Build Bridges of reconciliation, hope and understanding in our broken world.

Thank you to these special partners in ministry for giving

Change

Terri Simpkins
National President
AB Women's Min.

Change is inevitable, it happens! Sometimes change is good and other time, no so good. Most of the time change is what we make happen, and obviously, that, too, can be good or bad. This is a time of change for our country with a new President coming into office. This can, also, be seen as good or bad. We can approach change as positive or negative. It is up to us to decide how we look at change. It also needs to be a time of serious prayer for a world in distress and in need of change.

Several years ago, I set a personal goal. It was based on my personal life of wanting other women to feel better about who they are. I wanted them to feel better about themselves than I had before I dedicated my life to Jesus as my Savior. I grew up with very low esteem and still fight the battle through prayer and Godly counseling. I have changed in many positive ways. Since I have no daughters, I began devoting time to my daughters-in-laws, (and granddaughters, as they came along) assuring them they can be all they want to be with Christ. As I grew in my relationship with God I have been able to work with many women from different walks in life, women in AB Women's Ministries, women in my church and women in prison. 2 Cor 5:17 If anyone belongs to Christ, there is a new creation. The old things have gone; everything is made new! NCV. What a blessing it is to see changed lives in Christ.

Recently I was with eight women in a Bible training class at the prison; they were writing and sharing a "three minute personal testimony". (This is good exercise for all of us to do!) I was amazed listening to each of them tell what their life was like before they began their walk with Jesus, and how that commitment has changed their lives. One lady had been kidnapped at age 11 and had been missing for two weeks before she was able to return home. When she returned, she realized no one had missed her. They didn't realize she had even been gone, let alone for two weeks! To compensate, knowing that no one in her family missed her, she was determined to never be missed again. In doing so she surrounded herself with relationships that would eventually lead her to prison. After entering prison, she dedicated her life to Jesus and is a new creation, becoming a witness to many other women and has become a very good Bible teacher.

In Matt 18:3-4 Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, you must change and become like little children. Otherwise, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. The greatest person in the kingdom of heaven is the one who makes himself humble like this child." In prison women and men are fortunate to have the freedom to become like a little child and change their lives. Not all do, of course, but Jesus is there, available to all who seek Him.

For the past year and a half we have supported a campaign to Break the Chains of Sexual Trafficking. I know that those girls, women, boys and men are not in the same kind of prison in which I've worked. They don't have the opportunity to go to a chapel service to hear about a God that loves them. I can testify that when they do escape and are free to tell their life changing stories, they are amazing. Today there are far too many victims in a prison of slavery and we must not forget to pray for their freedom from an abusive bondage that is not self imposed. It is important for us to remember that Jesus loves these children of God and is always available to those who seek Him.

Life is about change and how we accept it. In a recent communication Mary Jane Sullivan, President of AB Women's Ministries of Maine used the following quote from Mother Theresa: JOY is prayer. JOY is strength. JOY is love. JOY is the net of love by which we catch souls. We give most when we give with joy. The best way to show our gratitude to God and to each other is to accept everything with joy. A joyful heart is the inevitable result of a heart burning with love.

My prayer is that each of you will always find JOY in change.

Clergy Award

Rev. Dr. Jeff Woods, made me aware of an Award for Parish Clergy, awarded by the Academy of Parish Clergy. I thought the criteria provided some interesting food for thought, so I pass them along to you.

If you have interest in actually nominating someone for the award, you can check out the website at:

<http://www.apclergy.org/ParishPastoroftheYear2009NominationForm>

Below are four behavioral characteristics to be described about the nominee. The commentary which follows each characteristic is to help understand each characteristic. One nomination, prepared by one or several lay persons is needed.

1. FAITHFULNESS: Describe this person's personal faith as it is grounded in a connection and time with God (including devotional life) and how this person helps people mature in the faith and encourages others along their faith journeys. What is the worthiness of the calling? These are pastoral and spiritual characteristics.

2. PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS: Describe this pastor's personal motivation (self-starter and internally driven and called to do the work of mission and ministry). How does this person adapt to options and works collaboratively with a variety of perspectives? Describe this person's self care habits and the supportive spouse/partner and family environment. When things don't go as planned, what is the ability to get back up and try again with another approach? What is the evidence of focused continuing education? Is a code of ethics and conduct apparent and kept?

3. LEADERSHIP: Describe how this person fosters and leads with a sense of unity of spirit and purpose; how the congregation is lead in discern and see God's preferred future with increasing clarity; how leadership and credit is shared with others, thus creating a distributed sense of ownership; how others in the congregation get connected to ministry using their gifts as ways to discern how best to service; and the building of good relationship and the helping of others to also build them. All this may be described as prudence: grasping each situation in its uniqueness, to engage in its complexity, to possess the spectrum of skills and knowledge necessary to address current and long-range issues.

4. CONGREGATIONAL OBJECTIVES: How does the congregation show intentionality in reaching new people and growing in worship attendance as part of the pastor's leadership? How has the congregation become more relevant and faithful to the larger community? How does the pastor's ministry connect to people outside the membership?
